Take Care of Arizona.

The following article, which is taken from the Phoenix Gazette, a former most ardent supporter of Mark Smith, is excellent reading, and contains facts which the voters of Cochise county should stop and think over:

Mark Smith is all right as a citizen, but the question before the people of Arizona today is not good citizenship, or good fellowship; it is Arizona. It is our homes and the territory we live in, and if Mark Smith was not a selfish politician he would step aside and not block the wheels of Arizona in her effort to get into the union. All that Mark Smith wants from this election—all there is in it for him—is an office, and a salary for two years for Mark Smith. There are and can be no benefit for Arizona. He has been in congress ten years, and should be there ten more the territory would still be knocking at the doors of congress for recognition. Now we ask the people of Maricopa county, who are almost a unit for statehood, what are they going to do about it? Are you going to continue to play on the same old harp, and stand still for another period of ten years? We don't believe you will. We believe that the citizens of Maricopa county who are progressive and energetic, will put their shoulders to the wheel and elect a man to congress who will put Arizona into the union. Let Mark Smith and his specious promises and smooth mannered speech go for a time; let him continue in his practice of law in Tucson and send Governor Murphy to congress. Secure the admission of Arizona to the union; then Mark and his friends will be given an opportunity to cross swords with the republicans on issues that are dear to the hearts of every citizen of the territory. The time and conditions are opportune. President McKinley is absolutely assured of a re-election; the same solid phalanx of republicans will sit in the national congress for the coming two years. The same old time leaders of the party will take the lead in all matters pertaining to admission of new states and other important propositions, that will be before the nation for consideration. Now is it not absurd for Arizona, which will come before that body, to send a life-long and well known Democrat to that body to ask for political favors? The admission of new states is purely a political question with the dominant party to consider whether the admission of two senators and one congressman to the national congress will not endanger the majority party. You can talk about your liberty and your rights under the constitution until you are black in the face, but the way to get Republican favors is to show that party that you will bestow like favors upon it. No man likes to bow the neck to the party whip, but there are times when in the interest of our country and our homes it becomes necessary. We in Arizona have stood by what we called "our rights" for years and sent a Democratic delegate to a Republican congress, and the man has always returned to us empty handed. Now we ask our citizens, who have lived under territorial government a sufficient length of time, to consider these questions well; consider that there are forty-five states in the American union, and that it has always been the dream and the hope of each one of them in its youth to become a state in the great republic. Arizona, like her big sisters, has drained the cup of territorial vassalage till it is become nauseating to her citizens. We want the privilege, the right to elect two senators to the upper house of congress who will demand that proper aid and just recognition be given her people. We have a grand country; its possibilities are as limitless as the sands of the sea; its valleys are extensive and fruitful; its hills are the treasure house of the nation's future. Don't, we ask, block the wheels that will put the machinery in motion that will develop and bring out these great treasures.

Governor Murphy may not be your choice as a representative, but is a broad gauged, liberal hearted man, and has more push and energy in his make-up, and can do more toward making Arizona a state in the union than any other man in this territory. His acquaintance in Washington is extensive and influential; his knowledge of affairs at the capital and his friendship with the leaders in congress all combine to make him the man that is peculiarly fitted to represent Arizona in congress and bring our territory into the union of states. Elect him and our days of supplication will be at an end; elect him, and the progress, the hopes and the aspirations of Arizona for the past fifteen years will soon be quickened into a realization.

The laboring man has more work to do today than he has had for years; he is getting higher wages for doing it than he has received for a long time. Now he is talking about voting to tear down the party that gave him the work and the wages, and enthrone in its place a party whose watch word is "Low prices for everything." Since we were children, all of us have been taught to think that the man who killed the goose that laid the golden egg was the Prince of Fools. Compared to a laboring man who votes to reduce his wages and the number of days he works, the man who killed the goose is a wise man and a philosopher.—[Law-(Kan.) Journal.]

Too much cannot be said about the republican county ticket this year. Election day is now only two weeks off, and if good work is to be done at all now is the time to do it. The ticket is one that any good citizen may well be proud of. The personal character of every man on it is above suspicion and the only thing to consider therefore, is the fitness of the men for the offices to which they aspire. This question can be safely left with all voters who are acquainted with the candidates or who will take the time or trouble to look up their records and inquire into their capabilities.

When you go into the election booth on Tuesday, Nov. 6th, and place an X after the name of Dayton Graham for sheriff you are helping to elect to that office a man in whom you may rest assured will rid the county of the present gang of outlaws that have held sway for the past few years. He is a fearless officer and knows his duty.

PLATFORM

The Democratic party of Cochise county, in convention assembled, indorse without qualification the platform and candidates of the Kansas City convention, and sedly regrets that republican domination at the national capital, by withholding statehood from Arizona, prevents us from recording our votes for the same.

We denounce the Republican doctrine that territories have no rights under the constitution, but can enjoy only such liberties as congress may deem "consistent with their welfare" to bestow.

We endorse the Hon. Marcus A. Smith as the regular Democratic nominee for delegate, to congress, and invite all voters who have at heart the best interests of Arizona to assist us in re-electing the leading statesman of our commonwealth to the office to which he has been fairly nominated and which he has so creditably filled.

We promise to do all in our power to defeat the Republican scheme to capture the territorial legislature and will endeavor to send a solid Democratic delegation from this county pledged to repeal the law which compels a voter to pay his poll tax before registration. Cochise now being a first class county, we believe it should be offered by first-class men, and we therefore present for the endorsement of the people a ticket selected with extreme care. Every man named is pre-eminently qualified to perform the duties of the particular office to which he has been nominated.

We favor the election of men to the office of supervisor who have property interests within the county, and who have shown ability in conducting private business affairs, thereby proving their fitness to conduct the affairs of the county.

We favor an equitable and just assessment of the taxable property within the county, and believe that more care in this direction would place the burdens of taxation where they more justly belong.

We renew the standing pledge of the democratic party to strict economy in the various branches of government and congratulate our citizens on the near approach of the day when the old indebtedness of the county shall be paid off and the rate of taxation can be reduced at least one half.

Young Men's Democratic Club regular weekly meeting tonight at Graham's Hall.

Judge James S. Robinson, democratic nominee for councilman will address the club at 8 P. M.

Eugene Brady O'Neil, a brother of the late Capt. Bucky O'Neil, sends a letter to the club which will be read by the Secretary.

All voters are invited to hear the address and the letter. The meeting will adjourn early to give opportunity to all the members and visitors to attend the Catholic Fair at the opera house.

THE MASS MEETING.

Saturday was indeed a political gala day for Bisbee. At the earnest request of many of the men on the night shift, Mr. Smith and Judge Baker spoke in the afternoon from the end of the library, and their short talks were listened to by a big crowd on the plaza which gave proof of being in hearty accord with the speakers.

The mass meeting at the opera house in the evening was the largest and most enthusiastic political gathering ever held in the county. Mr. Smith was suffering from a severe cold and sore throat which took much of the old time silver ring out of his voice and necessitated the shortening of his address. But in other respects his oratory possessed its accustomed charm. He expressed his joy at being once more in old Cochise to renew the old friendships of so many years standing. No man ever appreciated anything more than Mark appreciates the steadfast manner in which Bisbee has stood by him in the days before the great conservative mass of the democracy demanded that the factions which were disrupting the party should submit their differences to a fair trial and accept the results. When it was found that Mark's friends were in the right and that he was the regular nominee, the party became reunited, leaving him stronger than ever because of the severe tests that he had been able to withstand. The fact that time has proven that Mark and his Bisbee supporters were right from the beginning made this their first meeting since the convention a happy occasion.

Judge Baker had been heralded as one of the best speakers in Arizona, but this was the first time that a Bisbee audience has had the opportunity of listening to him. He fully justified the good reports and proved to be one of the most convincing speakers that has ever presented an argument in this town.

The decorations of the opera house were in good taste, the song rendered by the Democratic Glee Club was heartily applauded, and the general feeling at the meeting and on the streets verified the opinion held since the primaries that Bisbee is a strongly democratic town this year.

Most of the county candidates were in attendance, and being in truth a fine looking body of men, created a most favorable impression. It is in the air that this is a democratic year in Cochise county.

Our Candidate for Dist. Attorney.

Hon. E. W. Land was elected two years ago by a very complimentary majority to the office to which he again justly aspires. At that time it was fully understood that, while he was a bright young lawyer, he was wholly without experience in the district attorney's office. The growth of the county, the influx of escaped criminals from other states and various other causes have made the last two years extremely busy ones for the county prosecutor and the courts. In this campaign Mr. Land comes before the people as the most experienced man in the county in all matters pertaining to the duties of his office. Sixty cases of felony, eleven of them murder cases, and one of them, the Page case, tried twice, indicates an amount of work equal to any three other terms of office in the modern history of the county. While the percentage of conviction have been as high as the average, Mr. Land has, to use the language of an eminent lawyer of Tombstone, tried to be the public prosecutor and not the public persecutor. He has been eminently fair and just.

As legal adviser to the Board of Supervisors, he has helped that honorable body to save for the county three times the amount of his salary disallowing bills of a kind that have always before been paid. He could properly be styled the watchdog of the county treasury. The Democratic party again present his name to the voters with confidence that their selection will be endorsed at the polls.

Mr. Speaker, this great issue must be fought out along with the other great issues of the campaign this year. Those who favor trusts, combines and monopolies will and should ally themselves with the Republican party. This party has been their friend, their benefactor, their protector. Nearly every trust; magnate in this country is a republican. The Republican party can not point to a single federal statute that it has passed which has in any way retarded the creation of trusts or the power of monopoly. It passed the Dingley tariff act, which has created a brood of trusts more numerous than the autumnal leaves. It claims credit for the passage of the present Sherman trust law, which is so ineffective that it has not restrained a single trust, nor can the conviction of a single trust official be cited.—Swanson.

Mark Smith is certain to be our next delegate in congress. So, the best thing to be done is to fall in line and vote for him and keep up our representation in the territorial democratic convention. If you are bent on knocking Smith out your only chance to do it is in that convention, for you can't do it now. So, whether you are for Smith or against him, the best thing to do is to vote for him. If your eye sight reaches beyond your nose you will appreciate this statement. We will vote for him because his official record is clean and clear, while that of his opponent is black as night.—Prescott Morning Courier.

Mr. E. A. Nichols, the candidate for public school superintendent, has the sincere sympathy of a host of friends throughout the county in his sad bereavement. Last week his wife succumbed to a lingering illness and died. His daughter is very ill and heart broken over the loss of her mother. Under these distressing circumstances political circles will see very little of Mr. Nichols, but his friends will hold him in remembrance and provide that he be not a loser on that account.

The forcible annexation of territory to be governed by arbitrary power differs as much from the acquisition of territory to be built up into states as a monarchy differs from a democracy. The Democratic party does not oppose expansion, when expansion enlarges the area of the republic and incorporates land which can be settled by American citizens, or adds to our population people who are willing to become citizens and are capable of discharging their duties as such.—Bryan.
